RECONVENE IN OPEN SESSION

Mr. Jones reconvened the meeting in open session at 2:05 p.m. in Room 292 of the Memorial Student Center (MSC) and announced that a quorum of the Board was present. He said that the Board met in Executive Session from 10:40 a.m. until 1:42 p.m. and considered executive session agenda items and conferred with the Chancellor, several System and university administrators and System attorneys on personnel, land and legal matters. He announced that the executive session would be continued that same afternoon and on Friday, August 1, 2008.

INVOCATION

Mr. Jones called on Ms. Jennifer Williams, one of six Aggie athletes competing in qualifying meets in the U.S. Olympic Trials for the Summer Olympic Games in Beijing, China. Jennifer competed in two rounds of the 100 meter hurdles at the U.S. Olympic Trials. She is a senior University Studies major from Corpus Christi and is a member of the Women’s Track and Field Team--Big 12 Indoor and Outdoor Champions for the last two consecutive years (first-ever conference title in the Women’s Track and Field program at Texas A&M) and is a five-time ALL American. Mr. Jones said Jennifer represents the true Aggie winning spirit.

CHAIRMAN’S REMARKS

Mr. Jones said the meeting began on somewhat of a sad note saying that Ambassador Anne Armstrong and former member of the Board had passed away. He said Mrs. Armstrong was very special to him as he had taken her place on the Board when her term expired. Mr. Jones read a brief bio on Mrs. Armstrong and again expressed his admiration for her.

Mr. Jones said they also wanted to keep Dr. Ray Keck, President of Texas A&M International University, and his family in everyone’s prayers with the loss of their daughter.

Mr. Jones welcomed Mr. Anthony Cullins, newly appointed Student Regent, attending his first Board Meeting. Mr. Jones said that Anthony was from Dallas and had received an undergraduate degree from Texas A&M University-Commerce in management information systems in May 2008, and is now pursuing a master’s degree in business administration. He called on Mr. Cullins to say a few words.

Mr. Cullins said it was an honor to serve on the Board and thanked Governor Rick Perry for entrusting him to serve in this capacity. He thanked the Chancellor for his recommendation but most importantly, he thanked his support staff in Dallas and Commerce, Dr. Stephen McFarland, President of Texas A&M University-Commerce (TAMU-C), Dr. Mary Hendrix, Interim Provost and Vice President for Student Affairs, his mother, father and sister. Mr. Cullins said his success rises on the shoulders of over 100,000 students and he would do his best to serve them and be an advocate and a voice for the students. He said he looked forward to serving the students, the A&M System, higher education as a whole and the great State of Texas.

Mr. Jones introduced Dr. Brett Giroir, Vice Chancellor for Research. He said Dr. Giroir, a physician scientist, trained at the University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center in Dallas and has served as director of the Defense Scientists Office of the Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency in Arlington, Virginia (DARPA).

Mr. Jones also welcomed Dr. Dominic Dottavio, President of Tarleton State University (TSU). He said that since 2003, Dr. Dottavio had been President of Heidelberg, a 158 year old private college in Northwest Ohio. At Heidelberg, Dr. Dottavio led successful campaigns for student recruitment and retention, fundraising and expansion of academic programs. Mr. Jones thanked Dr. Dennis McCabe for his 17 years of service to TSU.

Mr. Jones introduced Dr. Carlisle B. Rathburn, President of Texas A&M University-Texarkana (TAMU-T). He said that before coming to A&M-Texarkana, Dr. Rathburn was President and CEO of Savannah Technical College in Savannah, Georgia. During his seven years as president, Savannah Technical College experienced the largest percentage growth in enrollment of any two-year college in Georgia and was the third fastest growing two-year college in its size range in the nation.

Mr. Jones said Dr. Dan Jones, the newly appointed President of TAMU-C, was unable to be present at this meeting and would be introduced at the September meeting. Mr. Jones said that Dr. Jones had been Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs, Chief Student Affairs Officer and Professor of English, at Texas A&M International University (TAMIU). Prior to becoming provost, he served in a variety of leadership roles at the University of Houston-Downtown from 1985-2003.

Mr. Jones welcomed Dr. Bob Strawser who had been serving as Interim President of Texas A&M University-Kingsville (TAMU-K) since July 1. He said that he was a TAMU Regents Professor at the Mays Business School and had held the Anderson Chair as Professor of Accounting since 1977. He also was the Arthur Andersen & Company Former Students’ Professor of Accounting from 1985-1996; Graduate Research Fellow from 1980-1984, and at the Mays Business School, he was Acting Dean, 1978-1979; Associate Dean, 1975-1978; and Professor of Accounting, 1973-1984.

Mr. Jones also welcomed Mr. Tom Boggus, Interim Director of the Texas Forest Service (TFS). Mr. Boggus joined the Texas Forest Service as a forester based in Linden in 1980 and rose through the ranks to become the Associate Director for Administration in 1996. Mr. Jones said that under his leadership, the agency had developed innovative educational and conservation programs and pioneered ways to provide new services aimed at conserving forests. He also was awarded the Regents’ Fellow Service Award in 2007.
Mr. Jones said there were nine schools (ten, if Galveston was included) and seven state agencies in the A&M System. He said with over 100,000 students and several thousand employees in this System that expands literally the entire State of Texas, we were occasionally struck by tragedy that resulted in death. Mr. Jones said we were also on occasion blessed with having heroes among us and the Board would like to honor some of those heroes. Mr. Jones said what happened in Galveston was nothing short of amazing...from the Coast Guard who risked their lives to search for, find and rescue five survivors from the capsized sailing vessel to the point to where the helicopter they were riding in was virtually on empty when they found the survivors. They never gave up hope...to Steven Conway, who used rescue techniques and refused to let the students give up and refused to let them die, to Roger Stone who made the ultimate sacrifice. Mr. Jones said we often taught about and talked about selfless service and that service to others was the highest calling. He said they honor those who do so even in the building that the meeting was in today...those who gave the ultimate sacrifice so that we might be free. And, on occasion, one among us carried out that selfless sacrifice to the ultimate and that was giving of their own life so that others might live. And, Mr. Stone did just that. He had choices, he could have gotten out of that boat himself first, but he chose to save the students.

Mr. Jones said he was reminded of a scene from the movie, Saving Private Ryan, where a squad of soldiers was sent to save Private Ryan (Tom Hanks) because he lost three brothers in World War II and they were sent behind enemy lines to save him. He said there was a scene in the movie where Private Ryan, who at the time of the scene he was describing, is in his 70s or 80s, an elderly man, and he was walking through a graveyard in Normandy. Mr. Jones said he found the gravesite of one of the men that gave of himself so that he (Private Ryan) might live. He said you could tell that his family was with him, children, grandchildren and when he found this grave marker, he turned to his wife and he asked her one question, “Have I been a good husband?” Mr. Jones said resolutions were going to be passed to honor some very special people, and particularly Mr. Stone, and he told the audience upfront that resolutions were wholly inadequate, not because they were not heartfelt, because they were, but, they were inadequate because they could not describe the feelings that we all had for what was done. He said in his opinion, the only way we could honor what had happened here is that when we were asked the question, “Have you been a good father, a good mother, a good administrator, have you been a good regent, have you been a good citizen was to be able to say “yes.” Mr. Jones said we continue to give of ourselves, selfless service and to give the best that we had to give. He asked Dr. Elsa Murano, President of TAMU, and Dr. Bowen Loftin, Vice President and Chief Executive Officer (CEO) of the Texas A&M University at Galveston (TAMUG), to make the presentations.

Dr. Murano said it was very difficult to talk about all this and it was very serious, but she liked to think of this moment as a happy occasion. She said the heroic acts of three people were being celebrated, three real American heroes, especially to honor the sacrifice of Mr. Roger Stone who gave his life to save our Aggies and bring them home. She said Texas A&M University and the Aggie family would forever be grateful. She said Dr. Loftin’s life had been impacted because of these events. She asked Dr. Loftin to say a few words.

Dr. Loftin said when he became CEO at Galveston, he did not anticipate this day. He said he was blessed with an extraordinary team of people in Galveston who stood together during this hard time to work with the families of those who were involved in the accident, to pray together, to hang together and share the Aggie Spirit together. He said it was a difficult time, but a time to prove what a great institution A&M at Galveston is part of. Dr. Loftin thanked Dr. Murano (one of the first people he contacted) and said he appreciated the fact that she came to Galveston and stood by his side and the side of his team during that difficult weekend. Dr. Loftin said that nothing they could say today would repay the Stone family for what they had lost, but he hoped that what they did today would give them some comfort that their loss was shared by 100,000 plus people who were part of the Aggie family.

Dr. Murano introduced Mrs. Linda Stone ’78, her son, Eric, and daughter, Elizabeth. She also introduced Mr. Steve Conway and his wife, Mary. Mr. Conway was one of the safety officers aboard the Cynthia Woods. Dr. Murano introduced Chief Petty Officer Albert Shannon who was the first person in the water to rescue the survivors, and U.S. Coast Guard Captain (Select) Sean Mahoney.

Dr. Loftin presented Item 62. The Board took action as set forth below:

CHANCELLOR’S REMARKS

Dr. Mike McKinney, Chancellor, said he appreciated all the rescue efforts.

Dr. McKinney said they went through quite a process in developing the budgets for FY 09. Dr. McKinney said they met with the CEOs and discussed what they were going to do in the Legislature, exceptional item requests that might be submitted. Dr. McKinney said he would bring a proposal for a legislative agenda in September.

Dr. McKinney said members of the Legislative Budget Board (LBB) and staff members had visited several campuses [TAMUG, West Texas A&M University (WTAMU), Health Science Center (HSC), Prairie View A&M University (PVAMU), San Antonio Center and others] and were duly impressed. He said there had also been visits from the Sunset Advisory Commission staff studying fire protection. Dr. McKinney said there would soon be a dedication of the new Bringle Lake campus (the Engineering and Technology Building at TAMU-T) and Lieutenant Governor David Dewhurst, Congressman Ralph Hall, State Representative Steven Frost and H. Ross Perot would be attending.

Dr. McKinney said there had been recurring discussions with the Legislature concerning higher education, the future of higher education, reforms in higher education and funding.

Dr. McKinney said in regard to scholarship programs, a number of the universities had set up programs to ensure that some of the lower incomes ($30,000-$40,000) received full tuition and fees in scholarships. He said they were in the process of getting the information from CFOs on how much that would cost outside of Texas Grants, Be On Time, Pell Grants and the other programs that were available. Dr. McKinney said they would have the details either at the September or December meeting so they could have it implemented by the spring semester, 2009.

Dr. McKinney said the Texas Engineering Experiment Station (TEES) had put all research administration on a single computer system. He said that this would allow the business service staff and the researchers at A&M, the regional universities and the agencies and HSC to be able to search on the database for anything compatible to their research.

Dr. McKinney said in regard to Task Force 1, they had responded to Dolly, a Category 2 hurricane, before it was a disaster. He said a portion of the force was hosted at TAMU-K and had 300 calls for assistance during that time. Dr. McKinney said Task Force 1 was the best in the country and served as a model for other rescue groups. He recognized Mr. Gary Sera, Director of the Texas Engineering Extension Service (TEEX), and Dr. Kem Bennett, Vice Chancellor for Engineering, for their work on leading this group. Dr. McKinney announced that Governor Rick Perry chose Dr. Bennett to chair the Texas Board of Professional Engineers.

Lastly, Dr. McKinney said that President George Bush had recognized the Centennial 4-H Youth Development program.

REPORT ON THE SINKING OF THE S/V CYNTHIA WOODS

Mr. Jones said the A&M System was struck with a tragedy on the night of June 6, 2008. The 38-foot Sailing Vessel Cynthia Woods capsized in the Gulf of Mexico while competing in the Regata de Amigos, a sailing race from Galveston to Veracruz, Mexico. A Coast Guard helicopter rescued five members of the A&M Galveston’s Offshore Sailing Team early on June 8. He said the body of the sixth member, Safety Officer Roger Stone, was found that same afternoon.

Mr. Jones said that on June 10, 2008, Chancellor McKinney appointed Deputy Chancellor and General Counsel Jay Kimbrough to conduct and complete a thorough investigation into this accident. Mr. Jones read the following on behalf of Mr. Jay Kimbrough, who was unable to attend the meeting:

“I would like to recognize Mr. Jerry Brown, Office of General Counsel, and Ms. Robin Woods, System Internal Audit, for their dedication and commitment to this assignment. They have spent many hours in Galveston interviewing people and collecting data to try to determine the cause of this tragic accident. Mr. Stone’s life was lost while serving his country and it is our duty to find out why and to do everything we can to make sure something like this does not happen again. Jerry and Robin have done an outstanding job in pursuit of this.

“Dr. Bowen Loftin and his staff have worked tirelessly, not only into investigating units, but more importantly with the families involved. And for that Dr. Loftin, we thank you.

“The coordination between the Office of General Counsel, System Internal Audit and TAMUG has been incredible. I want to publicly say how much I appreciate the great effort and good work thus far.”

Mr. Jones called on Mr. Brown to present an update. Mr. Brown said he would welcome questions at any time during his report. He reported that the Cynthia Woods’ keel and her sister ship, the George Phydias, were stored in a secure warehouse in Galveston. Mr. Brown said the Coast Guard, in cooperation with all interested parties, had taken core samples and sent them to a lab for testing. He said once the Coast Guard had these lab results, they could begin to draft their report and shortly thereafter the System would publish its report. Mr. Brown said this had been a team effort between System Audit and the Office of General Counsel. He said Mr. Kimbrough charged them to do an open and transparent investigation to determine what happened. He said even if it meant that we reported that errors and omissions of the university caused the tragedy. He said Ms. Robin Woods and Ms. Amanda Dodson, Internal Audit, had accomplished a tremendous amount of work and he joined Chairman Jones in thanking them for their efforts. Mr. Brown said he also appreciated the efforts of Dr. Loftin and his executive team of Mr. Rodney McClendon and Mr. Brad McGonagle, who had been incredibly responsive to unreasonable demands of their time and their resources during this investigation.

Mr. Brown said despite the complexity, in any investigation of this type the process was always the same; you preserve, you test, you analyze and you report. He said Step 1, you can’t do the other steps until you have something to work with. Mr. Brown said this incident occurred on June 6, 2008. All physical evidence was finally secured on July 14, 2008, 38 days later when the George Phydias was delivered to the warehouse. So he said it took 38 days to preserve the physical evidence related to this incident.

Mr. Foster asked if the keel had been recovered. Mr. Brown replied in the affirmative. He said the keel was recovered on June 19 and was stored in the warehouse with the two boats.

Mr. Brown said on June 6 at 1:00 p.m., the race began. On June 7, at 5:15 p.m., the Coast Guard located the vessel. On June 9, the vessel was salvaged from the Gulf by T&T Marine Salvage of Galveston and towed to Freeport, Texas. On June 10, the damaged boat was dockside in Freeport and he showed a photo of the Cynthia Woods, which was upside down and attached to the back of the salvage vessel. He said our friends at Freeport Launch flipped, lifted and stored the boat dockside on giant tires. Mr. Brown said the Coast Guard inventoried the contents of the boat and unfortunately, no log book was found at that point in time and the boat was released back to the university. He showed a photo of the keel and said two graduate students were using sonar equipment on a T&T Marine Salvage vessel. Mr. Brown said the search area was determined from using the last known coordinates from a still operable GPS device that was taken off the boat. He said the keel was delivered to Pier 14 at Galveston. He acknowledged T&T Marine Salvage who he said had been a tremendous resource during this process and particularly the efforts of Ms. Kelli Teichmann with T&T. He said her work had been phenomenal and expressed his gratitude for her tireless efforts to assist in securing this evidence. Mr. Brown showed a photo of the two boats and the keel.

Mr. Brown said some members in the System Internal Audit Department had been assigned to this project and had abandoned other projects to assist with the investigation. They had outdone themselves on this project. He complimented Ms. Cathy Smock, Chief Auditor, on their work. Mr. Brown said most of his time was spent dealing with logistics and making decisions and making decisions on the run. He said all of those related to preserving the physical evidence and all the while coordinating his activities with the interested parties and their attorneys and experts. He said he attempted to accommodate all requests for access to the boat and the keel, even though those requests were repetitive and inefficient, but he was compelled to do so by Mr. Kimbrough’s charge of doing an open and transparent investigation. He said in addition to the principals related to these entities, the interested parties were attorneys and multiple experts that required accommodation. Mr. Brown said the Coast Guard set a very demanding and tight schedule for gathering the information, acquiring the information they needed to write their report. He said it was often very difficult to meet their requirements because of the timetable and the requirements and he complimented the Coast Guard as they were very professional and very competent and there were seven or eight people working on this case.

Mr. Brown said Step 2 would be testing the evidence. He said this had been completed as it related to the Cynthia Woods. He said they were contemplating performing similar testing on the George Phydias. One of the disadvantages they were under was that they did not have the design plans of either the Cynthia Woods or the George Phydias. Mr. Brown said that he and Mr. Kimbrough believed what they needed to do was discover to the extent there were defects in the design and the construct of the Cynthia Woods and then determine if those same defects were also present in the George Phydias. So while the testing of the evidence was complete as to the Cynthia Woods, it had not begun on the George Phydias.

Mr. Brown showed a photo of a Coast Guard’s evidence bag. He said they drilled a round area called a “coupon” which took samples from all over the boat (about 16 or 17), mainly from the hull area. He showed another photo of a cross section of the hull to keel connection point. The thick white portion from the bottom portion was called the “keel boss,” which was a spacer connecting the rounded hull to the flat keel. It was non-structural in nature; does not support any weight. He said after you strip away this non-load bearing area, there were layers of paint, primer, Kevlar and other materials which were non-structural in nature; they did not support weight. Mr. Brown said after you strip away all the non-load bearing items, there was a half inch of fiberglass. He said that was not much fiberglass. That keel weighed 4,870 pounds and he believed the thickness of the hull would be one of the critical issues in this case. Mr. Brown said published guidelines from the American Bureau of Shipping (ABS) requirements were that the thickness of the fiberglass and the hull must be at least the thickness of the bolts used to attach the keel. He said the thickness of the bolts in this boat was one and a half inches, so according to ABS guidelines, the hull needed an extra inch of fiberglass to support the keel. Mr. Brown said that their expert would be looking very closely and very critically at that issue.

Mr. Brown said they worked with Coast Guard personnel to select a lab and designed a lab test protocol. He said he had worked with the Office of General Counsel for ten years and it took five hours to draft a four-page letter. Mr. Brown said that level of accuracy and detail was required to make sure that the lab understood the requirements that we had to accomplish our testing and reach our goal. He showed another picture of the keel plate that was sitting on top of the fiberglass inside the boat. Dr. McKinney asked if that plate was still attached after the keel fell off. Mr. Brown answered that the keel plate was still attached to the keel when the keel fell off...all three keel plates were still there. Mr. Brown said if you looked at the hole in the bottom of the boat, it was cut just like with a pair of scissors—a clean cut. He said the Coast Guard shipped off 16 samples for testing and they were not going to release the results of those lab tests until they released their entire report. Mr. Brown said it was problematic again because we don’t have Cape Fear’s design plans. He said Cape Fear had refused to share those with us, despite numerous requests, and it had impeded their investigation. He said hopefully in the future when the Coast Guard released their report, they would have the plans, and hopefully those plans would be released.

Mr. Brown said the Coast Guard had not set a timetable on the completion of their report. They would not even give an indication of how long it might take, not even a range. Mr. White asked if the Coast Guard had the plans. Mr. Brown replied in the affirmative and said Cape Fear would not provide them to anyone else. Mr. White asked if Cape Fear voluntarily provided the plans to the Coast Guard. Mr. Brown said he was not privy to how the Coast Guard obtained those plans.

Mr. Brown said that Step 3 was to analyze the evidence. The Coast Guard had hired an expert from Florida who had been in the sailing business for over 50 years and would assist them with their investigation. Mr. Brown said that they had hired their own expert, Mr. Brendon Dobrouth, who had outstanding credentials. He had an international reputation in sailboat design and manufacture and his area of specialty was keel redesign and repair. Mr. Brown said they were very lucky to have him on their team and he was absolutely one of the world’s experts in this area. As far as the report was concerned, the Coast Guard would issue their report first and then the General Counsel would issue their report. He said the Coast Guard had most of the pieces to the puzzle. Mr. Brown said in the General Counsel’s report, they intend to answer the ultimate question of why did the keel fall off, but also the report would be much broader and would cover the overall operations of the offshore sailing team and also look at some of the post-capsized incidents, the search and rescue that took place and maybe make some suggestions and recommendations. He said Mr. Dobrouth, in addition to being a boat designer and builder, was a professional racer of sailboats and had tremendous experience in that area. He had offered to assist us and make suggestions about how to improve some of our operations particularly in the area of safety.

Mr. Brown referred to ongoing activities and said he anticipated that there would be more work to do. He said Mr. Kimbrough’s charge to him and his team was that the actions would be open and they would be transparent and ultimately hoped to answer the question for the Stone family as exactly how this happened. He asked for questions.

Mr. Foster asked if the boat had any instrumentation that captured any data, such as the weather, the wind and the position of the boat at the time of the incident. Mr. Brown said the recovered GPS device had the longitude and latitude of the boat when it turned over. He said the weather conditions were provided by the crew, by Mr. Steve Conway, who was an excellent sailor and aware of everything going on around him at the time of the incident. Mr. Brown said we have information from National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) on the weather in the area to add to the analysis of what transpired but he was not aware of anything on the boat that would record weather conditions that we could use in our analysis of what transpired. There were no further questions.

Mr. Jones said they were ready for reports from standing committees and the Board had received one request for public testimony from Mr. Henry Ortega regarding Agenda Item 92. He said he would call on Mr. Ortega when the Board was ready to review that item.

In recognition of long and distinguished service to The Texas A&M University System, the Board of Regents hereby confirms the recommendation of the Chancellor, and confers the title of “Emeritus/Emerita” upon the individuals as shown in Exhibit HH, Emeritus Title List No. 08-06, and grants all rights and privileges of this title.

Mr. Stallings asked who made the final decision on who received tenure in the A&M System. Dr. McKinney replied that the Board had the final say. The Chancellor would make the recommendation to the Board. The provost at the university would receive a report from a faculty committee. The provost would review all the recommendations and report to the president, and the president reported to the Chancellor. There was a system to it and it came from the peers, from the faculty themselves. After further discussion, Dr. Murano said she appreciated Mr. Stallings interest in this issue. She said when you look at all of the teaching hours a week at Texas A&M, 75 percent of all of the teaching that goes on at Texas A&M was done by tenure, tenure-track professors, 16 percent by lecturers, and 8 or 9 percent by graduate student teaching assistants. Mr. Stallings asked how many hours a tenured professor taught a week. Dr. Murano said it’s a range, some professors taught one course, some professors taught three or four courses. Dr. Murano said she would like for the regents to come to campus and shadow these professors for a couple of hours.

Mr. Nye said 75 percent was very commendable. He said he would like to see it 100 percent, but he knew that was not practical and generally speaking there were some courses that didn’t require a tenured professor. He said we were better than we used to be and we were better than a lot of others.

Mr. Jones said in the tenure agenda items materials, he would like to see if the professors were tenured prior to arrival at the A&M system universities.

Mr. White said there was a healthy tension in the tenure process between faculty and administration, all the way up the line. At all of our universities, it’s an annual process where there was a healthy debate and healthy tension all the way up, and it could go awry, if the faculty wanted a number of people given tenure, and the administration didn’t.

Dr. George Wright, President of PVAMU, described his own tenure experiences. He said it was a very thorough process at Texas A&M.

Effective August 15, 2008, Dr. Jeffrey S. Vitter is hereby appointed Provost and Executive Vice President for Academics at Texas A&M University, at an initial salary of $350,000.

Dr. Murano said Dr. Jerry Strawser had been serving as Interim Provost and Executive Vice President for over a year. She said he had served with great loyalty always putting the institution first above anything personal and had worked long hours and had maintained his professional career as an accountant. Dr. Murano thanked Dr. Strawser for everything he had done and said he would be returning to the Mays Business School as the Dean.

Mr. Jones said Dr. Strawser was always very helpful to him when he called and he reiterated how much the Board appreciated his service.
Mr. Jones called on Dr. McKinney who presented Item 92.

Mr. Jones called on Mr. Henry Ortega, current chairman of the Texas A&M Hispanic Network, for public testimony on Item 92. Mr. Jones informed Mr. Ortega that his testimony should be limited to five minutes. Mr. Ortega’s testimony is as follows:

“Thank you for having me. Chairman Jones, Vice Chairman White, Regents, my name is Henry Ortega and I am the current Chairman of the Texas A&M Hispanic Network. With me this morning are two other past chairmen of the network; from Houston, Mr. David Flores and the founding chairman from El Paso, Mr. Hector Gutierrez. As you know, the network’s sole purpose is focused on advancing diversity at Texas A&M University here in College Station. This focus is in response to A&M’s Vision 2020 and in particular it’s emphasis on diversity. Today we are here not in the capacity of present or past chairman of the Network but as private individual Aggie alumni to address an item that is beyond the charter of the Network. I appreciate the opportunity to submit for your consideration some observations concerning the recent removal from a deanship position of Dr. Ciro Sumaya, the founding dean of the School of Rural Public Health within the Texas A&M Health Science Center. During his past ten years as dean, Dr. Sumaya exhibited significant leadership qualities that generated the fastest accreditation of a new school of public health in the nation. He led the school to a ranking in the top 25 schools of public health in the country as reported by US News and World Report. He expanded the enrollment of graduate students from an inaugural class of 23 to nearly 300 and expanded the curriculum from one master degree to three master and three doctoral programs. In 2000, he began the development of a statewide distance education outreach master degree program. This program now has sites in Tyler, Temple, Austin, McAllen, Laredo and Corpus Christi. He has recruited over 40 faculty members with national and international reputations. He has advanced a strong research portfolio in the areas that include aging, chronic disease management, tobacco control, health system quality control guidelines and reproductive and childhood environmental risk assessment and prevention. Dr. Sumaya led the creation of an innovative model of collaborations with community regional settings to improve public health.

“Besides these milestones, Dr. Sumaya has had leadership roles in federal and state government, as well as in the academic medicine, public health and foundation sectors. His leadership has been responsible for attracting several million dollar grants, contracts and programs which have advanced the evolution of this school. We suggest that these are the accomplishments of a dedicated professional who is committed to bettering the quality of life of all citizens of the State of Texas. They demonstrate a significant ability to take an idea, to give that idea form, substance and credibility. It is the kind of leadership that will advance the accomplishments and reputation of a university system that will meet the challenges of the present and the future. On May 30, 2008, without forewarning, Dr. Sumaya was presented with two documents by the President of the A&M Health Science Center. The first document stipulated that he accept an immediate action that would open a search for a new dean and that he would agree to step down when the new dean was hired. The second document, or the alternate document, stipulated that he would be removed from the deanship within six working days and remain as a tenured full professor holder of the Cox Endowed Chair. He was asked to sign one of these two documents; the reason given by the president for her action was a desire to change the leadership. She wanted Dr. Sumaya’s committal to one of these two documents at that point in time. Dr. Sumaya, obviously surprised by the directive, told the president that he would not sign or commit to either option then, but would like to have a few days to think on the documents and the implications and consequences of their specific content. The president at that time brought in an assistant to witness that Dr. Sumaya would not sign either of the two documents at the meeting and that meeting ended.

“Shortly after the meeting but on the same date, the leadership of the school received written notice from the president that Dr. Sumaya had been removed from the deanship position and an interim dean and dean search committee would be named shortly. (Mr. Jones informed Mr. Ortega that his time was up, but he would give him another minute to wrap up.)

“This indicated to him that the alternates were off the table. I submit that we are not here because we disagree or agree with the leadership’s decision to replace a dean. We are not here because we wish to inject ourselves in the management or operations for the system. We are not here because we wish to render an opinion about the qualifications that a dean of a school should have. We also are not here because of an appeal from Dr. Sumaya or any other system employee. We are here today because of the signal that we are getting from the system institution when it handles senior leadership changes without regard for due process and what seems to be a contradiction to the system’s own stated policies. He was dismissed in a manner totally devoid of any consideration for his reputation. He was dismissed without any consideration for the credentials he has earned. He was dismissed without any consideration for the accomplishments he has achieved as dean of this school and he was dismissed without any mention of or thank you for the efforts in bettering the quality of life of the citizens of the State of Texas…a mandate of the founding principles of this land-grant institution as intended by the Congress of the United States. We submit that the manner in which this dismissal was handled either demonstrates immature management experience on the part of system employees or exhibits a professional disregard for this person’s integrity without any consideration for collateral impressions of doubt that might be cast upon his performance, his character and his reputation. We are committed to advancing solutions to these challenges that A&M faces today in reaching the goals of Vision 2020. Within that effort, experiences like this make it difficult to attract the quality of talent that you have been striving to get. We trust that you will entertain these comments within the spirit which we render them…within the spirit of honor, within the spirit of respect, within the spirit of fair play and above all, within the spirit of Aggieland. I thank you for your time.”

Mr. Nye said he appreciated Mr. Ortega’s appearance before the Board and appreciated the constructive nature of his comments and further he (Mr. Nye) had some working knowledge of the organization of the Hispanic Network and he expressed his appreciation for the role that the Hispanic Network had played and would continue to play. He said that the Board could not discuss any matters that Mr. Ortega may have talked about but he assured him that the Board takes these responsibilities very seriously and doesn’t act casually on matters of this importance.

Mr. White said he echoed what Mr. Nye said and he had watched with admiration what the Aggie Hispanic Network had done. He thanked Mr. Hector Gutierrez, his mentor and friend for 40 years. He thanked them for their leadership and attending the meeting. He said it was a message that everyone needed to be reminded of...your love for the school and he appreciated their comments, but again this was a personnel matter that was taken very seriously and we would vote according to our conscience.

Mr. Fraga said he appreciated the opportunity to publicly express his respect and admiration for these gentlemen. For him they have been a source of inspiration and encouragement in his present position. Mr. Fraga said he could assure the Board that these gentlemen are genuinely passionate about our beloved university and for that he thanked them. He said that Mr. Gutierrez was Commander of the Corps of Cadets. Mr. Fraga said Mr. Flores was a fellow Houstonian and keeps him very well informed as to what the university needs to be doing.

Mr. Jones echoed the comments that had been made. He said all evidence is gathered before a decision is made and even after the gathering of the evidence, and after careful consideration, the decisions that are made are still quite difficult. Mr. Jones said that personnel decisions in any of the institutions, or within any institution within the System, are always the most difficult decisions made by this Board.

Dr. McKinney said Dr. Sumaya did send him an email that said he recently had become aware that a four-month sabbatical would be offered, following approval by the Board of Regents. He continued reading an email from Dr. Sumaya that the sabbatical was a result of being removed from the deanship of the School of Rural Public Health and need for retooling. Dr. McKinney said Dr. Sumaya appreciated this consideration, but he would not accept this sabbatical, if offered. Dr. McKinney said the language in the original minute order included the dismissal and sabbatical leave in the same item. Dr. McKinney said the development leave should be withdrawn.

Mr. White moved approval of Item 92.

Mr. Nye offered an alternate motion, he said he would join the motion for removal, but suggested giving the Chancellor the authority to make whatever arrangements he might feel appropriate to accommodate Dr. Sumaya’s re-entry into the profession given his departure. Mr. White said he would accept that amendment. The Board took action as set forth below:

On motion of Mr. White, seconded by Mr. Nye and by a unanimous vote, the following minute order was adopted as amended and accepted:

The Minutes of the May 22-23, 2008, Regular Meeting, as revised, are hereby approved.

Mr. Jones presented Item 94. Ms. Steen moved that Dr. Steven H. Tallant be named as the finalist for the position of President of Texas A&M University-Kingsville. The Board took action as set forth below:

Dr. Steven H. Tallant is hereby named the finalist for the position of President of Texas A&M University-Kingsville. The Board will take final action on this appointment after 21 days have expired, as required by state law.

Mr. Jones said that Dr. Tallant, from Paris, Texas, attended Paris Junior College. He received his M.S.W. in Social Work from the University of Utah and his Ph.D. in Social Welfare from the University of Wisconsin. He actually enlisted in the Navy and then later became an officer in the United States Air Force. He is currently the Provost and Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs at the University of Wisconsin-Eau Claire.

Mr. White thanked Dr. Bob Strawser for serving as Interim President of TAMU-K.
Dr. McKinney presented Item 96. He said this program was to be run as a pilot, first at TAMU and at TAMU-K. He said he was asking for the Board’s endorsement of the principle, the process and the appropriation of the money.

Mr. White said this was something that we continue to study, emphasizing the importance of teaching along with research and how to strike that balance in all of our universities. He said this was a great first step. Chancellor McKinney, Dr. Frank Ashley, Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs, and Dr. McGregor Stephenson, Associate Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs, were all working on this concept of how we insure teaching excellence around the System. He said it was a high priority for the State and for the A&M System. He said like many other things, we intend to lead. Mr. White commended the Chancellor for the efforts so far. He said they’ve met with Dr. Murano and Texas A&M and the interim provost about some of their systems and best practices and they intend to talk to other CEOs around the System about best practices that each of them had because this was something that we were going to continue to look at and lead for the State of Texas. The Board took action as set forth below:
