Dear A&M System Training Coordinators:

I am writing to let you know about a new online course in TrainTraq: Introduction to Research Compliance Requirements (course no. 2112557). The content was provided by the System Office of Research Compliance. It provides a brief overview of the types of activities that may require approval prior to initiation of research and who to contact for additional information.

This course will not be a System requirement, but individual members may choose to require it. Please work with your Research Compliance Officer to determine who (if anyone) at your university or agency needs to be assigned this course. If you need to develop assignment rules, please let me know.

Thanks,

Pat
